RADIO NOISES TRACKED DOWN

14 Causes Found, Many Are Neon Signs

Fourteen causes of radio interference have been located by two city employees working nightly from 6 to 10 o'clock, Hugo Lillquist, superintendent of the electric department, reported today.

Most of them were due chiefly to neon signs on Ludington street, Lillquist said. Merchants have been cooperative in taking necessary steps to eliminate radio interference caused by their signs or appliances.

Detection of radio interference will continue for at least one more week. Anyone noticing radio interference may feel free to call the department for a check of the area.

In giving hints for better radio reception, Lillquist said that fluorescent lamps, though one of the best sources of illumination in terms of units of light per dollar, are often the cause of severe radio interference.

These lamps, he said, are essentially electric arcs and unless a perfect operating condition exists within the tube, noise will be radiated. This condition develops after lamps have been in use for some time.

Small inexpensive dual capacitive filter units are now available to keep disturbances generated in the immediate vicinity of the lamp and out of power lines. They are quickly installed within the lamp housing and do not affect the appearance of the light fixture.

To check fluorescent lights, Lillquist advised owners to turn their radios on in an adjoining room, set the dial where no station is heard, and allow the lamps to operate for 10 to 15 minutes. If buzzing is heard, one filter will be necessary in each lamp. These are available from electricians and radio parts stores.

Similar filters are available for all types of electrically operated appliances and industrial equipment. Neon signs can also be equipped with filters. Most neon signs create interference when soot and other winter dirt collect on insulators.

Air Force To Train Navigators; First Since End Of War

The U. S. Air Force has announced that aviation cadet training will soon be expanded to include training of navigators as well as pilots. The first class of Navigation trainees is scheduled to begin Nov. 1, 1949, at Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Tex. New classes will follow every 30 days.

The new navigator training program will be the first such training offered since the war.

Qualifications for training as navigator will be substantially the same as those required for pilot training. Applicants must be between 20 and 26½ years of age at time of making application; must have satisfactorily completed at least one-half of the credits leading to a degree at an accredited college or university, or be required to accomplish the Aviation Cadet Educational examination instead, if only a high school graduate.

Physical standards required for navigation training, especially those for hearing and eye-sight, will be somewhat lower than those required for pilot training.

Those who successfully complete the navigation school will receive reserve commissions as 2nd Lieutenants and will be ordered to active duty for at least three years. On active duty with an Air Force operational unit, they will serve as Navigators on Air Force bombers such as the B-29, the B-36, B-50, or the latest Jet bomber, the B-45.

Varied Program Of Fun Arranged For Escanaba's July Fourth

Ludington Park Site Of Most Festivities Monday Afternoon

A varied program sure to please every member of the family has been arranged by the Escanaba recreation department and the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce for the Fourth of July celebration here Monday afternoon and evening.

People from Escanaba and the surrounding area are invited to participate in the program, to come to Escanaba in time for a noon lunch and a supper picnic and make a day of it.

Family picnics at Ludington park are the order of the day, Co-Chairmen Dr. Vernon K. Johnson of the Junior Chamber and George Grenholm of the city recreation department point out.

Center of Everything
Once at Ludington park, picnickers will be right in the middle of the festivities, which include a concert by the Escanaba municipal band at the band stand overlooking the yacht harbor, Junior Olympic athletic events at the improvised track and field on the level stretch of lawn fronting the band stand, swimming competitions off municipal pier a stone's throw from the band stand, bathing beauty contest, fireworks and other interesting events.

"It's strictly a come-one come-all affair," the co-chairmen chorused today. "Committees have worked hard and long to make this day a huge success and we feel sure that the day's program will strike the fancy of all who participate in it."

17 Queen Candidates
Seventeen girls will compete at Ludington in the bathing beauty contest, and the winner will not only reign over Escanaba for the Fourth of July but she will be Escanaba's official representative in the U. P. State Fair queen contest.

Each girl is sponsored by an Escanaba merchant, who will furnish her with a swimming suit for the contest and with a banner.

Climaxing the day's program will be the first public dance ever to be held in the National Guard Armory, 400 North 23rd street, which last night was decorated completely for the affair. Dancing will be from 9:30 until 1:30 and not from 10 to 1 as was announced yesterday.

Ivan Kobasic and his popular orchestra will play the dance, the highlight of which will be the dedication and coronation of Escanaba's queen at midnight.

New Type of Car Promised by Ford

New York — "In the near future" the Ford Motor Co. will be producing a new automobile.

Henry Ford II, president, said so last night before flying to London on business.

He did not elaborate. However, Ford said one of his purposes aboard would be to look over an expansion plan for a British factory.

Sub-Region VA Offices Abolished; Local Force To Serve Only This Area

Effective today, the Upper Peninsula office of the Veterans' Administration and four other similar offices in Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Jackson and Kalamazoo will cease functioning as sub-regional headquarters, and work previously handled directly by them in their respective territories will be handled through the regional office in Detroit. The Escanaba office will continue to serve the local area.

This was announced here yesterday by Henry A. Mosher, who in keeping with this change, which constitutes a major economy "reduction in force" on the part of the VA, will be transferred to Detroit as an occupational rating specialist in the adjudication division of the regional office.

Mosher has served as manager of the Upper Peninsula office, on the third floor of the First National Bank building in Escanaba, since October, 1946. He came here from the regional office in Detroit where he served as chief of the training facilities section.

Offices On Equal Basis
Although his transfer is effective today, Mosher will remain here until August 1 to facilitate the change in the status of the Escanaba office.

Since October, 1946, he explained, the local office has had jurisdiction over Veterans' Administration offices in Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie, Ironwood and Houghton.

Under the current reduction program, all five offices will continue functioning but they will be directly supervised by the Detroit regional office on an equal basis. The Escanaba office no longer will have jurisdiction over all U. P. VA centers.

Despite this change, however, he pointed out, the legal section of the local office under Theodore J. Sura will continue to serve the entire U. P., and the medical and dental sections will remain intact. The rehabilitation section will operate with fewer personnel.

Officer-In-Charge
In the near future, he said, an officer-in-charge will be appointed for the Escanaba office. Since it no longer will serve as the U. P. center, the office of U. P. mapager is being abolished.

"I've enjoyed my work in Escanaba and throughout the Upper Peninsula and the association with veterans' organizations and appreciate very much their cooperation with the Veterans' Administration and its officers," Mosher said yesterday.

"Escanaba is a splendid community, and the cooperation of all employees in the office has been of the best."

Mosher added that in keeping with the economy move, the physical size of the Escanaba office is being reduced. Only about half of the former office space will be used under the new setup, and several items of furniture will be shipped from all offices in the U. P. to Detroit.

Gregory Schneller, who has served here as deputy supply officer, is being transferred to the supply division in Detroit, and recent transfers include Morris Woodbridge from Marquette to Escanaba and Max Feldman from Flint to Escanaba to fill vacancies left by the reduction in force.

Another recent transfer involved William Butler, who is now contact representative with the VA hospital at Fort Custer, Mich., after serving here in a similar capacity for some time.

SCHAFER

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Auger and Mr. and Mrs. Al Bonamer of Escanaba were recent guests at the Walter Shermer home.

Mrs. N. Gauthier is spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. Pat Carey in Marquette.

Here Is Timetable Of Events In City's July 4 Celebration

Beginning with the Sunrise Salute at 6 a. m., signalling the start of Escanaba's Fourth of July celebration, an interesting program of events has been arranged here Monday afternoon and evening.

5:30—Bathing beauty and Escanaba queen contest with Scott Runge of WDBC, Escanaba radio station, as master of ceremonies. Ludington park.

6:30—Supper club, group singing and barber shop quartet program with Bill Clark at the Hammond organ. Ludington park.

9:40—Fireworks at Ludington park.

Midnight—Prize distribution. Armory.

12:15 a. m.—Crowning of Escanaba's queen. Armory.

1:30 a. m.—End of dance.

The losing team in the tug-o-war contest, it was announced today, not only will treat the winning team to dinner but will, in the course of losing, be dragged through a water hazard consisting of a stream of water from a nearby tire hydrant. The Trades and Labor Council will assist in conducting the tug-o-war.

A committee of three out-of-town judges will select the bathing beauty contest winner. Richard Lucke, of Stephenson, is chairman of the judges committee.

Tickets for the dance at the National Guard Armory may be procured at Home Supply, Tommy's Lunch and Ammel's station. A highlight of the dance will be the awarding of a $400 wrought iron terrace set, at midnight.

All members of the junior chamber are asked to report at the green bathhouse at Ludington park at 10 Monday morning.

The United States was the biggest buyer of the 108,395,000 pounds of tobacco which Turkey exported in 1948.

Play Safe On The Fourth And Be Alive On The 5th

Law enforcement and health officials today joined in advising the public to play safe on the holiday Fourth so they will be alive to enjoy the fifth.

The long weekend coming on will be an invitation to travel, and motorists were advised to use extra caution to reverse the usually high holiday traffic accident toll. Sheriff's officers, city and state police pointed out that many persons starting to celebrate the Fourth of July will not live to see the day out.

Year after year Independence Day has its gory as well as its glorious events. The three-day holiday starting tomorrow and the continuing upward trend in vehicle mileage will bring both a big celebration and a huge death and injury toll.

Traffic officers point out the danger of speed as one of the special perils of the traffic-choked highways during the coming week end. Speed contributes to one out of three fatal traffic accidents.

Take it easy, play safe, so you will not have to come home from holiday trips in bandages or a cast, they advise.

Among the tips offered holiday motorists were the following:

Begin your trip a little earlier so you won't be tempted to speed. Don't cut in and out in heavy traffic. Stay in line until passing is safe. Don't let high speed get you into an emergency spot that you can't get out of.

Your life and the lives of others will depend upon your driving—so drive as if your life depended upon it.

There are other hazards than traffic. Play safe, say health authorities, and get some benefit out of your holiday weekend.

Swim only at supervised beaches; eat only at clean and state approved restaurants; drink only water approved as safe by the State Health Department. Watch out that you keep perishable foods refrigerated. Harmful bacteria increases amazingly fast in warm weather.

Don't expose yourself too long to the sun or you risk painful and dangerous burning and possible heat prostration.

If you go out in a boat make sure it is not overloaded and there are life preservers aboard. Don't stand up in a small boat. Watch the weather and go ashore if a storm threatens.

Take it easy, play safe and drive safe and you'll enjoy your weekend holiday—and be back to work on Tuesday in better condition than when you left.

HUGE CREAMERY
A creamery in Meridian, Ida., is one of the largest raw milk receiving stations under one roof in the world, buying more than $5,000,000 worth of milk annually.

TAKE IT EASY ON THE FOURTH BE ALIVE ON THE FIFTH

If everyone would keep in mind these words this Fourth of July would bring much less tragedy and much more pleasure.

If you must travel with your automobile, call on any of the member agents to look over your policy to make sure you are properly insured.

Fewer Forest Fires

SPORADIC rains this week have reduced the forest fire hazard in the Upper Peninsula, all of which is welcome news to all who are concerned with the problem of keeping the region's woodlands green.

Forest fires are recognized as the greatest threat to our forest resources—the timber, wildlife, soil and water. If fires can be kept out of the woods, the job of restocking the denuded timber areas is made many times easier.

It is because of this recognition of the importance of forest fire control that state and federal governments provide funds for this purpose. In recent years, new scientific and mechanical aids have come to assist the foresters. Parachutists techniques, developed in the recent war, and helicopters are now employed to suppress spot fires in isolated areas. This week, new fire plowing and pumping equipment was demonstrated in the Hiawatha National forest near Nahma Junction.

Paper and lumber companies and other private industries also have joined in the campaign to prevent forest fires. Last year, advertisers sponsored more than 10,000 newspaper advertisements to apprise the public of the fire peril. Other educational programs were conducted, and will be continued this year.

About ninety per cent of the forest fires are caused by people. This is the reason why there cannot be too much public education in this field. Indirectly forest fire losses are everybody's losses, and so the public should be interested in doing its part to prevent them.

Copper Is Down

ARIZONA is in the dumps over the slump to 16 cents a pound in the price of copper, the mining of which is its biggest industry. The state's principal producers are shutting down, laying off men, and cutting back their work weeks where they are still able to keep going.

Arizona is joining with Michigan in a demand for reinstatement of the four-cent-a-pound tariff on imported copper which was in effect before the war. Imports are likely to boost the nation's supply far beyond our annual requirements.

The issue is a national one and not just a state matter, for copper ranks as an industrial material second only to iron. Our own Copper Country will be dragging on bottom until the import duty is restored.

Self-Reliance Faces Extinction

FORTUNE magazine's recent survey of college campuses shows graduating students more worried about old-age pensions and similar security safeguards than anything else in their future.

Add to these protections a job with a big, established company and a wife and a few children and you have what most college men in their twenties are seeking today.

It is alarming to realize that security-mindedness has gone so far down the age ladder that it now tends to dominate the thinking of our college youth.

It is too easy and too trite, however, to respond to this situation with the regular exhortations to self-reliance, and then let it go at that. The problem isn't that simple.

These youngsters have come of age in a world still staggering from the brutal blows of two world wars and a deep depression. The dilemmas that led to these disasters are still largely unsolved. The complexities of life, whether in war or peace, seem to have grown beyond man's comprehension.

While man nevertheless gamely continues the search for solutions, he is trying at the same time to insulate himself against a recurrence of disaster. This has been true in many areas of the earth.

This country's effort to protect its people against catastrophe was propelled swiftly forward by Franklin D. Roosevelt's program of social legislation in the 1930's.

Republicans fought the program at the time, but historians today say social and economic conditions were such that either major party probably would have had to find bold new answers to the call for security.

Since then, a struggle to widen the domain of secure living has waxed and waned, and it is still going on. But nothing has happened, or seems likely to occur, to upset the basic security framework of the country.

It draws its main strength from a mood born of haunting fear of another great depression. And the terrific dislocations of war and postwar years have lined up many more recruits under the security banner.

This is the atmosphere breathed by college students in 1949. It should enable us to understand how they can be thinking of pensions and a safe job instead of adventurous risk-taking.

But it should shock us anew into realizing that in all this necessary attention to security measures we have indeed ignored the vital need to build a society of resourceful individuals.

How to have security and self-reliance side by side is admittedly a hard nut to crack. But the evidence indicates that most politicians are not even facing the problem earnestly. It is high time they stopped ducking it.

We owe to the masses of men a higher duty than merely to make them secure against disaster and basic want. We owe them a life where the human spirit is free and eager to grow to its fullest height, where the sum of that individual growth will be a society of constantly widening economic and social horizons.

1,000 Small Plants

LATEST of the large industries to consider plans for a broad program of decentralization is the Kaiser-Frazer company.

The automobile company will soon conduct experiments with a few small test plants. Speaking at a dealers' meeting in Topeka recently, Edgar F. Kaiser, president of the company, said that 1,000 similar plants will be erected in various parts of the country for the final assembly of cars.

According to Kaiser, the experimental plants will build about twenty cars per day. Construction of the first units in the factory system will be completed at Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles in the near future.

K-F hopes to gain the same benefits that other corporations have achieved through decentralization. Smaller operations make for a closer contact between management and labor and create more harmonious relations.

Quite likely if the full scale-decentralization program is launched, Kaiser-Frazer will locate some of its plants in small communities. The plan will offer renewed hope to many that have been trying to attract new industries in recent years. If the K. F. project is successful, there is also the probability that other large industrial corporations will be encouraged to embark upon similar ventures.

GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

Listen to the rhythmic heartbeat of summer. The pulsing urgency of Spring has passed its climax; now comes the period when plants push steadily toward maturity. Rows of corn, beans and potatoes are broadening bands of green above brown soil. Apples look like green golf balls on the branches of the old orchard behind the barn. Cherries are flushing pink; the robins and wax-wings investigate each day and harvest those that are half ripe. Currants are reddening up; gooseberries are swelling taut; and the first beans and carrots from the garden are juicy and sweet.

The monotone chant of tractors sounds from the fields where men are giving knee-high corn its last cultivation. The song of chattering mowing machine blades echoes from meadows as farmers hurry to get their clover and alfalfa under cover. A brassy sun follows an arc just below the zenith as it starts downhill from year's longest day. Mornings are moist and the air is full of mist; fog banks hover low over the river valleys until dispersed by the warmth of the climbing sun. Only a few birds sing at dawn. The woods, orchards and hedgerows are filled with young birds learning to find their own food.

Mushrooms dot the damp areas of lawns and ghost-like Indian pipes blossom in shadowy spots in the pasture. Wild carrots hold their broad heads to the sun and flamboyant Devil's paint brush in the oat fields causes farmers to mutter about this multitudinous and pestiferous hawkweed. Sumacs lift their green-gold candles on scraggly arms above fences and walls; milkweed's chestnut-purple beauty attracts swarms of bees and insects. Through the seventh month there is purposeful activity as wildlife and man prepare for the inevitable change of seasons. Dusk comes slowly when the heat of a July day is done and shadows begin marching down from the heights. Farm families sit on porches and watch the last fires of day die in the west. For a poignant interlude mountain peaks flame against the sky and then darkness covers the fields and meadows. Fireflies stage their lantern ballet; there's the last sleepy call of a robin. A night hawk's boom sounds from the air and suddenly a whip-poorwill's clear call comes from the pasture ravine. Stars twinkle like jewels against a blue-black velvet curtain. This is the good old summer time.

PRONUNCIATIONS TO WATCH

The word typically should be in your vocabulary. It is a verb meaning "to serve as the typical specimen of; to symbolize," as: This book typifies the best in American literature. Watch the first syllable—not "type." Make it "tip," thus: TIP-i-fy (-fy to rhyme with by, my).

It is a common fault to pronounce Baptist as "BAH-dist." And baptize is frequently heard as "BAB-tize." The "bab" is especially prevalent in the South. Be sure to sound the "b" and "t" correctly. Baptist is: BAP-tist. Baptize is: bap-TIZE; also: BAP-tize.

Large numbers of readers have written to me about the "lug" in luxury. They thoroughly dislike the pronunciation "LUG-zuh-ree." Indeed, dictionary consensus show the first syllable as "luk," thus: LUK-zuh-ree.

But note this: In luxuriance, luxuriant, luxuriate, and luxurious, and dictionaries do sanction "lug" in the first syllable, the first choice pronunciations being: lug-ZHOOR-ee-uns, lug-ZHOOR-ee-nt, lug-ZHOOR-ee-ate, and lug-ZHOOR-ee-uns.

Fulbright Bill Merits Passage

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—One of the most conscientious men in government in recent years was Wilson Wyatt. As housing expediter in the critical months immediately after the war, Wyatt fought hard to get public assistance for home builders.

He believed that government should do everything possible to get more dwellings built so that GI's returning from the war would have decent housing. In line with that conviction he backed a corporation setting out to make a new type of steel and enamel prefabricated house.

Wyatt urged that the War Assets administration lease to the Lustrum Corporation, which proposed to make the prefabricated houses, the giant B-29 engine plant at Chicago. The plant had cost the government $70,000,000 and the machinery in it was worth an estimated $100,000,000.

—GAVE LEASE TO TUCKER—
Wyatt was overruled. WAA had given the lease to Preston Tucker and the lease was the base of Tucker's fabulous promotion of his rear-drive Tucker torpedo. Tucker and seven of his associates were recently indicted for fraud.

Although he has never said so publicly, that was one of the reasons Wyatt resigned as housing expediter. Short of an all-out attack to get prefabricated houses moving rapidly off an assembly line with the aid of allocations of steel and scarce commodities, Wyatt doubted that such an undertaking could succeed. This was at the time when shrewd promoters were finding loopholes in the housing law so that they could build race tracks and roller coasters.

Wyatt resigned to return to private law practice in Louisville, Ky., his home. Not long afterward, in June of 1947, Lustrum got a loan of $15,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. WAA had leased to the company a former Curtiss-Wright plant at Columbus, Ohio.

Lustrum retained as one of its Washington representatives Herschel Young. Young comes of a Jackson town, Missouri, family long close to the family of President Truman.

At the same time Herschel's brother, Merl, was employed as an examiner in the RFC and was passing on Lustrum's application for a loan. Merl, who began with the RFC in November, 1945, after service with the Marine Corps, rose rapidly from accountant at 4,500 a year to examiner in the loan division at $5,130 and finally to a classification paying $7,193. Merl was 32 when first employed by the RFC.

In July of last year Lustrum got a second loan of $10,000,000. That same month Merl Young resigned from the RFC to take a position with Lustrum at $18,000 a year in charge of their Washington office. He still holds that position.

In February of this year Lustrum got a third loan of $7,000,000. Last week director Harvey Gunderson of the RFC, testifying before a senate committee, said the corporation would shortly apply for a fourth loan of $3,000,000.

—LOST MILLION MONTHLY—
The company, Gunderson said, is making about 15 houses a day and losing about $1,000,000 a month. The RFC's directors, according to Gunderson, believe that the company with equipment installed in the last 30 days can make a profit and get up to 100 to 125 houses a day. Senators got the impression, however, that before this point was reached still another loan beyond the $3,000,000 would be necessary.

Herschel Young says he was employed briefly by Lustrum to help put up a model house in Washington. That may be the fact, yet it would be hard to convince the skeptical observer that "pull" and "connections" do not enter in here.

Merl Young, after he became Lustrum's representative, was closely associated with William M. Boyle, Jr., in the Democratic national headquarters before Boyle became the full-time paid executive director of the committee.

The pattern of influence that is evident on the surface of all this is decidedly unhealthy. Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas has put in a bill which would forbid any employee of the RFC who had participated in making a loan to a company to accept a position with that company for five years after the loan was granted. In at least two other recent instances the RFC loan examiner has turned up immediately after the granting of the loan at a much higher salary with the company. Adoption of the Fulbright proposal would be a much-needed step in the right direction.

The second choice pronunciations, which many careful speakers prefer, are luk-SHOOR-ee-uns, etc.

Heard at a bridge game: "I would have been set if I had not decided to FY-ness the queen." The word used in finesse, a loan-word from the French. It may be used as a noun or verb; but the first syllable should not be accented. And the "i" should not be long as in fine, final. The correct pronunciation is: fi-NESS; or: fuh-NESS.

The word wound, "an injury," is occasionally heard to rhyme with "found." But that pronunciation is obsolete. The Standard American pronunciation is: wound, to rhyme with "swooned."

Wound should never have been spelled w-o-u-n-d. The Anglo-Saxon and Middle English spelling was w-u-n-d, pronounced: wuund. But perhaps it was thought that w-u-n-d suggested a rhyme with "fund," hence the change to w-o-u-n-d. But it was a bad spelling since wound is the past tense of the verb wind, and w-o-u-n-d suggests a rhyme with bound, found, hound, and such words.

Recommended pronunciation: wuund.

Do you have difficulty in using the words affect and effect. If so, Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-1, will help you. For a copy, send 3c in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Fulbright, care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Parleys May Come and Parleys May Go, but---

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

VACATIONTIME — The time has come to talk of safety—vacationtime safety—for the millions of youngsters now enjoying their summertime release from school.

It is unfortunate but true that before school opens again several thousands of young boys and girls will have needlessly had their lives snuffed out in accidents.

These accidents will be in the home, on the street, at the beach and lake, and even in their own backyards.

The child's urge to run and play in celebration of vacationtime's carefree days can be dangerous to himself and to others. It is tragic that too many times in our cities a child must pay with his life for his careless happiness in playing tag or ball in the street, or in doing those things that every child has a right to do—cast caution to the winds and enjoy the youthful pleasures of vacationtime.

AND PARENTS — Even with the greatest care exercised by parents there is still the danger of accidents to children.

Certain dangers can be reduced if not eliminated through the effort of the parents. These are particularly important to the safety of the small child in the home:

Do not permit the children to play on stairways or at the top of a flight of stairs. Be sure children do not approach the stove when there are pots or kettles of boiling fluid on top—turn the handles of pots and pans away from the stove front. Children should not play with electrical extension cords, or with electrical appliances.

And there is always the timely warning to keep bottles of poison or cleaning fluid and acids far out of reach of youngsters. All bottles containing poison should be plainly marked—so you will not make a mistake yourself.

AT PLAYTIME—As children grow older they need and must have the opportunity for greater outdoor activity. Not all of their play can be under supervision of adults. At an early age, therefore, children should be taught the fundamental rules of street safety: Not to run into the street, always to look up and down before crossing the street, and not to play in the street. And they should never be permitted to play near railroad tracks.

Children should be taught the danger of some of the games they play—games that have a "wild west" flavor and involve "gun fights" and "hangings." They should be taught never to point a gun, toy or otherwise, at another person. And each child should be taught that he should not allow another child to place a rope about his neck, or to tie him up, or confine him in boxes or old ice boxes. Too many children are the victims of strangulation and suffocation as the result of such dangerous games.

SWIMMING LESSONS—Many parents, because they do not swim, have an inordinate fear of the water. They transmit this fear to their children. Therefore the children never learn to swim or to learn the simple rules of safety in and on the water.

If the parents are qualified they should teach their children to swim, otherwise the children might well be enrolled in one of the swimming classes at the city beach. While the children are below ten-age it would be well for the parents to accompany their children to the beach and to pick them up when it is time to return home.

The child should always be taught the danger of swimming alone or with other children in an unsupervised place. They should be warned of the danger of horseplay and rough games in the water.

WHAT TO DO—On the positive side there is much that parents can do to encourage their children to play safely.

The recreation department carries on a year-around program for the benefit of the youngsters of Escanaba. All recreation department activities are supervised by adults. An inquiry to that department will inform when and where your child can join one of the playtime groups.

In addition, parents could spare some of their time to direct the play of their children and other children in their neighborhood. By agreement they could work out playtime activities for a large group, so the burden of responsibility would be divided.

Older boys can be encouraged to engage in one or more of the organized sports such as baseball and swimming, to occupy a part of their time. If they are Boy Scouts they will have the opportunity to attend Scout camp for one or more weeks, where they will play and learn. Similar opportunity is offered to Girl Scout members.

And last, but not least, there is the old-fashioned family week-end picnic and outing. Here the parents can shine if they will, making good fun for their children and themselves, welding closer those ties that mean so much in family happiness.

Public Forum

Emotional Row

I am very much disappointed by the emotional row that is being stirred up in the matter of federal aid for education. It seems to me pointless and, worse yet, dangerous.

The Constitution and the whole past history and spirit of this country make it clear that public funds raised by taxing the general public should be used for general welfare only. As one means for maintaining the general welfare, a system of free public education has been set up. It has always been the mainstay of our democracy, a system of education wherein children from entirely different backgrounds, both religious and cultural, could rub elbows, exchange ideas, and learn to live together. In no other way could this nation have been welded together from the disparate groups that make up its population. As Americans, we should feel it our duty and our pride to support this system, be we Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, or what have you.

To try to force through a bill allowing federal funds to be used for private and parochial schools is to try to force the individual taxpayer to support a religious teaching which may be contrary to his own conscience. The public schools, being separated from the church, do not do this. If an individual wishes to send his child to a private or parochial school, that is his privilege. It is also his responsibility. The separation of church and state is a basic American principle which protects all faiths and all churches, but asks them, as it should, to support themselves in whatever special or private educational plans they may have for their own children.

For some reason the Catholic church has chosen to make an issue of this, calling it "anti-Catholic discrimination." Why? There are many private and parochial institutions which are not Catholic and from whom we have heard no protest. Cardinal Spellman calls the Barden Bill "un-Catholic." That sounds rather odd in the U. S. A. Since when is legislation to be judged by whether or not it is "un-Catholic"? This business of making a specific religious consideration in the first place, and certainly not of any specific religion in the second, can only result in stirring up religion in the second, can only result in stirring up religious ill-feeling. That does no one any good.

Mrs. Escanaba.

Taxpayer's Viewpoint

A recent letter in the Public Forum stated "there is no discrimination in the Barden Bill." The definition of discrimination is "to make a distinction, as in favor of or against a person or thing."

The Barden Bill is definitely discriminatory.

If the taxpayers would seriously consider this issue, they would realize how much the Parochial schools save them. They should be more than satisfied to allow the children of Parochial schools to appreciate the same consideration the children of public schools are accorded.

When a school census is taken, all children from Parochial and public schools are included in the tax assessment, the money is then distributed to the public schools. If the children from Parochial schools were placed in public schools there would be extra taxes for additional teachers and school buildings.

This is not Czechoslovakia or Hungary, it is the United States of America. Let's keep our country strong in body and soul by all people working together. The Lord preached and practiced charity for all.

A Taxpayer.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One congressman who has vigorously defended North Carolina's Graham Barden from the charge of "bigot" hurled at him by Cardinal Spellman is Rep. Andrew Jacobs of Indianapolis, himself a devout Catholic.

Jacobs, a freshman who in six months has made an outstanding record, serves on the same education and labor committee with Barden, where the aid-to-education bill is now bottled up. Citing the late Al Smith on the separation of church and state, Jacobs contends that a great many Catholics disagree with Cardinal Spellman.

"As long as we have the same right to send our children to public school as anyone else we are not discriminated against," Congressman Jacobs says in a special statement to Catholics. "And as Catholics we do not have the right to a separate, publicly supported school system, nor does any other group of people have such right."

"Whatever can be constitutionally done to aid a child will win my support. However, I cannot and will not support any measure that grants public financial aid to private or parochial schools."

"We have the right to build and maintain our churches," continued the Indiana Democrat, "but not to build or maintain them with public funds. Our parochial schools are an adjunct of our religion, established for educational use instead of using public schools, solely for the sake of the child's religious training."

"The issue is clear. Either you keep parochial schools and maintain them or take public funds and convert them into public schools, and they will then no longer serve the religious purpose for which they were established."

—GENTLEMAN FROM N. CAROLINA—

Congressman Barden of North Carolina, whom Cardinal Spellman has attacked, is a quiet, hard-working, middle-of-the-road who is viewed in Congress as anything but a bigot. Actually, he agrees with Cardinal Spellman on many things, especially on the point that the federal government should not control education.

Barden is a man of deep, fighting convictions, and one of these is that we must raise our public-school standards.

"I happen to be a Presbyterian," says Barden. "But I don't believe it's the duty of the government to provide money to Presbyterian schools any more than for the private schools of Methodists, Catholics, Quakers, Episcopalians or any other faith."

Barden was a battler for better education long before he came to Congress in 1934. As a member of the North Carolina Legislature he led the fight for the improvement of both white and colored schools. The fact that Negro schoolteachers are now paid the same as white, and that money is divided impartially between Negro and white school buildings and transportation is due in part to Barden's untiring efforts.

"I am wrong about as often as the next fellow," says the North Carolina congressman. "But I try to be always sincere. My constituents don't blame me if I make a mistake once in awhile. However, if they ever find me wrong and insincere at the same time, I expect them to get after me plenty—and rightly so."

—BRITISH BUSINESS CRISIS—

Paul Hoffman, the Marshall Plan administrator, held a secret conference with top government officials last week to report on the British financial crisis.

Britain, according to Hoffman, had bungled its way into a first-class recession that may lead all Europe into a depression and wreck the Marshall Plan. Hoffman was especially bitter about Britain's trade deal with Argentina, said it is typical of the way Britain has refused to practice what it preaches.

He intimated that if Britain doesn't show more signs of cooperation he may cut off Marshall Plan aid—if congress doesn't beat him to it.

Tom Finletter, head of the ECA mission to Britain, was present at this meeting, and agreed that Britain would have to take drastic action in a hurry to keep from going bankrupt and dragging all Europe under with it. This is something the Russians have been praying for ever since the cold war started.

—CAPITAL NEWS CAPSULES—

Defending the Pacific—The joint chiefs of staff have developed an important plan for the defense of the Pacific. They are writing off large sections of this vast area as impossible to defend and will concentrate on holding Japan, India, Burma, Java, The Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines. The plan was approved after a number of meetings with top British and French military men who agreed there was no use in Western Powers spreading their forces too thin in case of war with Russia.

Real Estate Lobby Advice—The real estate lobby is now instructing builders how to beat the law if investigated for housing frauds. A set of legal moves has been doped out by Herbert Colton, lawyer for the National Association of Home Builders, and published in the association's monthly magazine. His advice, if all else fails, is to appeal over the head of the housing expediter to the local district attorney. He also urges sending a committee of builders to the D. A. in advance to offer "advisory service."

Revolt Plans in Austria—U. S. diplomats in Vienna report that the Communists and former Nazis are combining to overthrow the Austrian government—just as soon as a peace treaty is signed. That these two usually bitter opponents—Nazis and Communists—had made a secret deal to merge was the first tipoff the United States had that Russia was now willing to write a peace treaty for Austria.

NEW PROJECT FOR PATRIOTS

Peons To Be Told How To Observe Holidays

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Evansville, Ind.—The American Heritage Foundation, which made such big propaganda of the Freedom Train, has set its sights on a new project which seems to me to be heavily on the patronizing side. The foundation now presumes to teach some 35 sample American cities how to celebrate their holidays, starting with the Fourth of July.

If this is a success, the foundation will then take over Labor Day, Thanksgiving, New Year's and all the others, to instruct the peasants in the celebration thereof. Christmas, I assume, will be exempt from the foundation's guiding hand, possibly on the theory that the anniversary of Jesus' birth can stumble along on its own merits.

In this noble effort to educate America in the meaning of its feast days, the foundation will send out what it calls "kits" to newspapers, radio stations, city councils and such. The kits will contain some 90 pages of instructions—the origin and significance of Independence Day, suggested special events, examples of successful programs, suggestions for pre-holiday participation by labor, management, women's clubs, fraternal organizations, civic and service clubs.

Tired of It All

There will be suggestions for newspaper editorials, radio scripts, suggested speeches, suggested poems, suggested scriptural readings, lists of films, plays and pageants, and general reference literature. This inundation of high-pressure publicity is designed to make us all better citizens, it says, but all it does to me is make me mad.

I am plumb sick and tired of being patronized by hotshot huckster operations, who presume that I have been living in ignorance and darkness until they came along to lift the veil and preach the gospel. I am weary of being hit over the head with such clichés as "tolerance" in the modern sense, "obligation" and the sundry slogans suggesting that I will be riding with the klan unless some smart, salaried press agent simonizes my soul on selected dates.

Considering our superior educational system and communications, I presume that at least a handful of us know the significance of the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Labor Day. I presume the same handful can celebrate it without benefit of a handy, dandy "kit," just jammed and bulging with pre-digested patriotism. I know what I am going to do on the Fourth of July, for instance. I am going fishing and shoot a few firecrackers.

Dislikes Throat Stuffing

It is not even necessary to say that you can be heartily in favor of religious freedom, charity, patriotism, good citizenship and equality between men without enjoying the process of having it stuffed down your throat by organizations which suddenly appear to have exclusively discovered the 10 commandments. I dislike the hackneyed repetition of "tolerance" in the mouths of others, who are exhorting me to

WELLS BRIDGE GETS THE EYE—The Delta county road commission and its superintendent-engineer take a gloomy look at the 36-year-old bridge spanning the Escanaba river at Wells. Restricted now to the lowest minimum traffic loads, the 840-foot bridge will have to be razed because it is feared it will collapse on the practice same or they will beat me to death with a stick.

"Tolerance" is a nasty, thin-lipped, pinch-faced word, anyhow. It connotes more conscious indulgence of the foibles of others than of free-handed acceptance of your fellow. It is listed as meaning "long-suffering" and "to passively permit or put up with" and I wish they would quit throwing it at me.

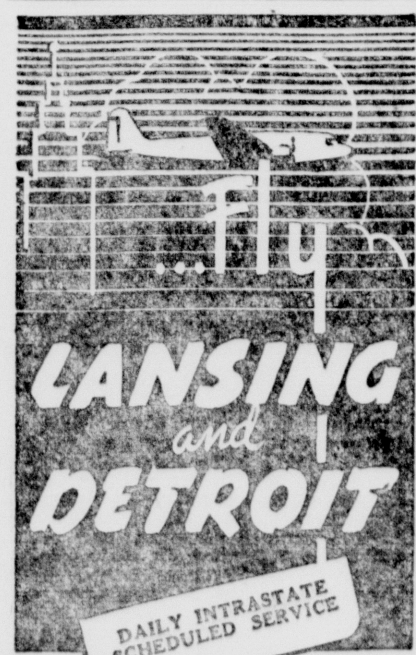

I got sore at President Roosevelt when he started to monkey around with Thanksgiving Day to suit his own purposes. I thought it was arrogant of any man, even a President, to go around switching dates on a holiday that didn't belong either to him or the Democratic party. I think this boiler-plate approach to what should be a matter of personal choice is equally arrogant.

The foundation has asked several editors to give an opinion of its project. I'm no editor, but I have an opinion handy, and this is it. Don't beat me over the head with the golden rule, men. It raises just as big a bump as any other club.

Swat At Mosquito Causes Cut in Leg

Battle Creek, Mich. (AP)—Robert Hyslop, 34, was hospitalized with a deep leg cut—all because of a mosquito that got away. Hyslop was trying to kill the mosquito in his bathroom, when it lit on a glass shelf, Hyslop took a mighty swat.

The insect flew off, but the shelf was smashed, and one fragment hit Hyslop in the leg. The wound required several stitches.

Stonington Farmers 'Face Lift' Peninsula Lighthouse

GRANGE STARTS RESTORATION JOB— The first of several "repair bees" sponsored by the Bay de Noc Grange of Stonington was held last Sunday in the Grange project to restore and maintain old Peninsula Point lighthouse. The Stonington farmers swarmed over the 70-year-old structure, pointing the brick work, painting, and making repairs for which the government has no funds. By agreement with the U. S. Forest Service the Grange will maintain the building and the Forest Service the surrounding picnic grounds.

Pictured above is the lighthouse, getting its first repairs in many years. To the left (left to right) are Grange members Wilmer Larson, repairing the brick wall, and Sheldon Cobb, painting a basement window casing. To the right Grange Master Peder Pedersen wields a hammer in nailing siding shingles on the second floor. The Grange committee in charge of the project is headed by Art Sundstrom, who is assisted by George Honberg and Charles J. Peterson.

Study Resources And Outdoor Crafts

Munising—Six Munising students returned last Saturday afternoon from a new experiment in education—a school camping experience.

Although the chief aim of such camps is to give students a better understanding of the natural resources of their own region, it is also felt that such experiences are valuable training areas for democratic living.

Each of the schools participating in this experiment—Marquette, Gladstone, Manistique and Munising—had an opportunity to send a limited number of students to Clear Lake for the week of June 19-25. Each student paid just enough to cover the cost of food for the week.

Except for the first day, which was spent in getting acquainted with camp routine, regulations, and cabin mates, the week was spent in instruction or activities related to some phase of outdoor living or conservation. This instruction was provided by members of the Department of Conservation of Marquette, Delta, Luce, and Alger Counties. It included information about fire-arm safety, compass use, trapping, woodcraft, fire prevention and control, game and fish management, boat and canoe safety, forestry and the management of state parks and recreation areas.

Activities included following a compass course, learning how to get in and out of boats and canoes, visiting Steuben fire tower, learning how to set nets for fishing; how to improve streams for fishing by the use of deflectors, and lakes by brush shelters. In the course of this work a field trip was made to the Fox River.

Although this was predominantly a learning experience, some recreation was provided for each day.

Each of the participating schools sent a representative for its faculty who participated in the program along with the students, and acted like the counselor. The director of this camp project was Hartger Winter, of the Allegan public schools, who has set up similar camps in the Lower Peninsula.

These high school camps were held for the first time this year. Some in Lower Michigan were held before the close of school. This one at Clear Lake was considered an experimental camp in order to point the way to future programs.

Munising students who attended were Pat Beauchamp, Sally Frechette, Nancy LaFlamme, Frances Madigan, Leo Maki, and Peggy Windus, with Helmi Harkala as counselor.

A similar experience for younger students will be provided through the Elementary School camp to be held between July 10-16, and July 17-23. Each student will play only for the cost of food. The local school board pays a portion of the overhead expenses, as was done for high school students.

The quota of seven for Munising is fixed by the accommodations provided at Clear Lake, which include four cabins for boys and a similar number for girls, shower rooms for each group, a kitchen and dining hall, an infirmary, a recreation hall, and quarters for directors and other camp personnel. Counselors share accommodations with the students in the cabins.

These experiments in school camping are sponsored by the Northern Michigan College of Education, the Kellogg Foundation, and the participating schools. The College has a lease on Clear Lake camp. The Kellogg Foundation shares a part of the overhead, such as the Board of Counselors, visitors, etc. The participating schools each bear a proportionate share of the other overhead expenses. Julian Smith, in charge of camping for the Department of Public Instruction, attended the preliminary meetings and was instrumental in starting this work.

Instructors and their part in the program were as follows: Mr. Maher, Gladstone—Firearms Safety; Compass.

Mr. Seppi, Forest Lake—Trapping Demonstration; Woodcraft.

Mr. Latusiewicz, Munising—Compass.

Mr. Ben Hemingway, Munising—Weather Readings; Fire Prevention.

Mr. John Hanson, Manistique—Weather.

Mr. Anderson, Newberry—Fish; Stream and Lake Improvement.

Children's Art,
Picasso's, Not
The Same Thing

With museums everywhere fostering and exhibiting it, the evaluation of children's art confuses experts and aficionados as well as laymen and the children's parents, according to Aline B. Lowenheim writing in the July issue of Mademoiselle magazine.

"There is the proud mamma who is sure her own offspring really paints as well as Picasso. There is the irate papa who takes it as proof of what he always suspected anyhow—that Picasso doesn't paint any better than a five-year-old.

"And there is the shrill protagonist who makes a cult of children's art and insists it is aesthetically on a par with the work of mature modern artists. It's hard to tell who is the most mistaken. "The child has an instinctive sense of design. He can invent interesting forms and contours and seems uncannily and unconsciously able to balance and contrast them. His sense of color is daring, lively and sensitive."

Bold Expression
In addition, the child does not try to recreate optical reality. "Most of the time he is painting what he feels and imagines rather than what he sees, or conversely what he sees is transformed into a system of symbols to say what he feels and imagines.

"He gives a running figure long, spindly legs; a man with a head-ache an enormous cranium; a zebra out—El Morocco El Morocco with its stripes."

In addition the child expresses his feelings with bold and convincing economy. Miss Loucheim points out. "The important person or thing is big, exaggerated, close up; the secondary is smaller, vaguely suggested; the unnecessary is totally eliminated."

The paintings of the modern artist are bound to resemble child art because the modern artist is interested both in the direct expression of what he sees and feels and in the pictorial qualities of his painting.

The Mature Artist
"The modern artist has deliberately abandoned faithful representation of the visible world as his goal and feels free to create conceptual or abstracted or abbreviated images.

"But the resemblances are superficial indeed. Hang the work of a child and the work of a mature artist side by side for a three month period. Those intangible elements which make a work of art inexhaustible will exert themselves in the adult work.

"It will continue to be enriching and interesting, it will continue to liberate and shape your imagination; while the child's art, though it may retain its decorative charm, will become as known and tiresome as a two-often-repeated Hit Parade tune."

The reason, according to Miss Loucheim, is that the control, the consciousness, the emotion and experience expressed by the nature artist cannot be realized in the limited experience expressed by a child.

The formulas for American handmade glassware are so precise that a single ounce of one material will be added to improve the quality of other materials totalling 2,000 pounds in weight.

Roleo And Outdoor Show Will Open At Gladstone On Saturday

RUNNING WILL DEFEND TITLE

Casting, Diving, Boating On Varied Program

Gladstone is again ready to entertain crowds of visitors and local residents at its World Championship Roleo and Outdoor Show which opens Saturday and continues through Monday.

Jimmy Running, popular champion of Eau Claire, Wis., will be on hand to defend his title against a tough field. Whether he can do it is a question.

However, there is no question but that there will be a new women's champion, for Mary Jean Malott, perennial winner of the title, will not be on hand for this year's event.

Jim Running, Eau Claire, Wis., veteran arrived here last night with his wife and family. Other roleo stalwarts on the scene for the big weekend competition in Gladstone are Frank Pelouin and Bill Fontana in the senior division and Bill Galbraith, Ronny Kyle and Ray Cousineau, junior competitors. All the latter are from Fort Francis, Ont.

Seeking the men's title will be Ray Holdeeman, Milwaukee athletic coach who placed third last year; his brother, George of Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Bobby Bizeau, and Dave Engstrom, both of Gladstone; the Birling Girards, Billy Jr., Lowell, Adolph and Bill Jr.; Mark Olson of Marquette; Joe Thompson, Eau Claire, Wis.; Frank Pelouin and Bill Fontana of Fort Francis, Ontario, Canada; Ed Ogle, Stanley Ogle, James and Robert Ogle of Marquette; Charles Swanson of Gladstone and Ed Ludwicks of Eau Claire.

In the women's division are Arbutus Wilson Lameroux of Ladysmith and Mary Ann Hoffmann of Gladstone.

In the junior amateur birling will be Bill Galbraith of Fort Francis, Ontario, who won the title last year; two of his chums, Ronny Kyle, who took second and Ray Cousineau, both from the Canadian city; Tom LaLonde, Neil Sinclair, Tom Moreau, Alger Strom and Herman LaFave.

The Canadian boys practice with and are taught by Frank Pelouin and during the past year appeared at a Sportsmen's show at Manitoba where they birlled before Premier Dwyer of Canada.

Drawings for the birling will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the State Police Post.

New logs have been obtained for the championship event, they have been dried so as to be fast as possible and were recently painted and marked.

Casting exhibitions by Don Allen, nationally known bait caster; a comedy act by Bob Perry who patterns his act after that of Larry Griswold; diving exhibitions by Chuck Goran, Dick Mason and Bill Wedeking; softball and outdoor boat races augment the program.

American yews, palms and white carnations and peonies banked the altar of the Bethel Baptist church for the 8 o'clock candlelight service on Thursday evening when Miss Dorothy Grace Martinson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold Martinson, 118 East Elk street, became the bride of Kenneth Donald Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carlson, Wilmar, Minn. The double ring ceremony, performed on the bride's parents' twenty-first wedding anniversary, was read by the bride's father.

A half hour of violin and piano music preceded the ceremony with the traditional wedding marches played by Carl Olson and Nadine Westin. During the service, Miss Ruth Martinson, maid of honor and sister of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". She also sang "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us" after the closing prayer.

Misses Joyce and Carol Martinson, sister of the bride and Misses Shirley and Evelyn Carlson, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Roger Carlson of Wilmar, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Loren Westman of Minneapolis, cousin of the bridegroom, Garland Hudson and Robert Hed of Wilmar, and Robert Carlson were ushers.

The bride, who was accompanied to the altar by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin with yoke of seed pearls, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a full plaited skirt which ended in a court train. She wore her mother's lace bridal veil, which was fastened to a tiara of seed pearls. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses tied with satin streamers.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of pastel tissue taffeta with scalloped necklines, fitted bodices and full scalloped skirts. The maid of honor wore orchid color and the bridesmaids wore pink, blue, yellow and green respectively. They wore bands of white flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of roses and mixed flowers in pastel shades. Matching gloves completed their ensemble.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Martinson chose an old rose crepe street length dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Carlson, the bridegroom's mother, was dressed in an aqua print with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. D. Anderson, grandmother of the bridegroom, of Cambridge, Minn., wore light gray and had a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for 250 guests. At the reception Carl Olson played "Adoration" on the violin, accompanied by Miss Nadine Westin. Miss Ruth Martinson sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "The Indian Love Call", accompanied by Mr. Olson on the violin and Miss Westin at the piano. Mr. Olson played a continuous medley of classical love songs throughout the reception. The reception room was decorated with American yews, vases of white gadioli and ferns. A tiered wedding cake, ivory tapers and white mixed flowers adorned the bride's table. The couple sat under a white arch decorated with an evergreen background.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson left on a wedding trip later to points in Canada, New York and Illinois. The bride wore for traveling a blue dress trimmed with white applique and white accessories. After July 25 they will be at home in their apartment on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

The bride, an honor graduate of Manistique High school and Bethel Junior college is attending the school of nursing at the University of Minnesota. Mr. Carlson, a graduate of the Wilmar High school, served in the U. S. Marine Corps for three years as a second lieutenant and graduated from the University of Minnesota with a BA degree this past spring. He will continue with graduate work there.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Carlson, Evelyn, Shirley and Roger; Garland Hudson and Robert Hed of Wilmar; Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Westman and son Loren of Minneapolis; Mrs. E. M. Anderson of Cambridge, Minn.; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobson of St. Paul.

Band Concert At
Lincoln High School
Saturday Night

The Manistique Municipal band will hold its next weekly concert on Saturday evening at the Lincoln school grounds on the west side where a program of popular numbers will be presented.

The public is asked to take note that the concert will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. This earlier hour has been set because for the present no lights are available and playing, for that reason must be done in daylight.

There are more than 8,000 scheduled mail trains every day in the United States.

New Clinic Plans Open
House Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday afternoon, from one to 5 o'clock, there will be open house at the Manistique Clinic, a new institution in Manistique, owned and operated by Dr. Merle E. Wehner.

The building, located at 131 River street, has been under construction for the past several months under the direction of the Doctor's father, Paul Wehner, local contractor, and at its official opening will be complete and ready for use in every way.

The building, which is of fire-proof construction and is 34 feet in width and 94 feet long. Set well back from the street, on nicely landscaped grounds it presents a striking appearance.

There are 16 rooms on the ground floor, with two sets of offices, two examination rooms and two consultation rooms, it being Dr. Wehner's plan to share the clinic and its facilities with another physician who is expected to arrive here in the course of the next few weeks.

The front entrance opens into a large well lighted reception room 13 by 23 feet in size. Daylight is filtered into the room through glass brick windows, the walls are tinted in pleasing tone to harmonize with the modernistic furniture.

The receptionist's office and the doctors' offices are furnished in blond throughout.

A long hallway runs through the center of the building with the various departments arranged in convenient order, with rooms devoted to hydro massage, complete physio therapy, basal metabolism, X-ray, surgery room and two recovery rooms. All of the equipment is new and strictly the latest word in the practice of medicine.

Particularly impressive is the X-ray room with its motor driven X-ray machine. The dark dark-room adjoining this room is equipped to handle not only X-ray films, but also has ample facilities to permit the doctor to indulge in his favorite hobby—amateur photography.

A driveway on the north side of the building leads to an entrance halfway along the building for the admission of ambulance patients.

Dr. Wehner stresses that the building is in no sense a hospital and that the room facilities are for one day only for tonsilectomy patients, industrial surgery and the like. There will be no overnight patients.

The basement which lies under the rear half of the building is given over to heating, air conditioning facilities and also provides an attractive recreation 32 by 32 in size. The furnace, which burns oil, operates automatically under thermostatic control starting when the temperature in the room reaches a certain low and shutting off when the other extreme is reached. The recreation room has a large open fireplace, has facilities for shuffleboard, movies and other forms of diversion.

Dr. Wehner, who came here in October, 1947, saw the need for a clinic of this sort from the start. Difficulty in getting material and equipment, delayed plans and operations for a while, but now everything has materialized according to plan, he states.

Doris M. Mero
Becomes Bride Of Maynard Morse

Miss Doris Marie Mero, daughter of Mrs. Cleve Mero, 103 bridge of Maynard Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morse of Nahma, in a ceremony performed Wednesday, June 29 in St. Francis de Sales church, the Rev. Fr. E. H. Berendsen officiated at the 8 o'clock service.

The couple was attended by George Mero, brother of the bride, and Miss Mary Lou Morse, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, William Mero, wore a white satin gown fashioned with long sleeves, tight fitting bodice, square neckline, and a full skirt ending a long train. She wore a fingertip veil, edged in lace, which fell from a wreath of flowers in her hair. She wore a pearl necklace and carried an all white bouquet of lilies and carnations.

The bridesmaid wore a pink gown of net over taffeta with matching veil in her hair. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Mero, mother of the bride, wore an aqua crepe dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of red roses.

A wedding breakfast and dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. A tiered cake, topped with the traditional bride couple, and tall tapers decorated the table. A reception for 100 guests was held in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse will make their home in Manistique.

MRS. IVOR WILLCOCK was the former Ann Solar before her marriage on Saturday, June 25 in St. Francis de Sales rectory. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Solar, Alger avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bertha Willcock, North Houghton avenue. The couple will make their home in Manistique. CITY PLANS NO
CELEBRATION

C. of C. Will Cooperate
With Garden

Manistique will have no Independence day celebration this year.

The Manistique Chamber of Commerce at its Wednesday night's meeting is cooperating with the celebration at Garden to the extent that merchants are being asked to donate items to be given away at the neighboring community's big day.

Assurance is given, however, that there will be plenty of fireworks in Manistique nevertheless. The Manistique Cardinals of the Rainbow League and the Cocks team, head of the Bay de Noc league are playing a game here Monday afternoon which promises to be one of the most hotly contested games in these parts this summer. The Cardinals have been doing well this season and Cocks has been going to town in a big way having won every league game this season.

Regardless of where Manistique people celebrate, Cocks people are certain to turn out en masse for the game here. They are backing their team in a big way.

In a well-played game the Fortyanover club bounced the Collegians Wednesday evening 7 to 1. The stellar pitching of Kasun and some sensational fielding, especially shortstop Matthews' save in the fifth with the bases loaded, was the margin of victory for the Oldtimers.

DiMaggio Crashes Three-Run Homer To Beat Dazed Red Sox, 6-3

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Better check those all-star votes. The name Joe DiMaggio seems to be missing.
If there is any legitimate 100 percent all-star in the baseball business today, Joe is it. What matter that he missed the first 65 games? Off his showing in three ball games, he belongs on the team.

Nu-Way defeated Larmay's, 3-0, in a pitchers' duel last night between Peterson of Nu-Way and Bravak of Larmay. The latter was touched for seven scattered hits but a safety by Tom Dufour and homerun by Dickie Lough turned the trick. The game was called in the fifth because of rain. Escanaba Daily Press SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD
Sports Editor

Cuff notes: The 12th district American Legion Junior baseball tournament will be held in Iron River and Stambaugh July 7-9. This is important because the winner of the 11th district tournament in Munising July 9-10 (Escanaba, Manistique, Gladstone and Munising competing—all Waubung entries) will play the 12th district winner in the Upper Peninsula finals to be held here during the U. P. American Legion convention July 15, 16 and 17.

Teams already entered in the 12th district affair are Norway, Kingsford, Iron Mountain, Crystal Falls, Wakefield, Ironwood, Ishpeming, Chassel, Champion, Hancock, Stambaugh, Iron River and Houghton. 1948 champion, winner over Escanaba in Ishpeming last summer.

The way the Escanaba Cubs are going, they should be a shoo-in for the 11th district championship.

Candidates from this area for the South team in the annual all-star football game in Ne-gaunee Aug. 13 are John Quick, Manistique, half; Warren Gustafson, Escanaba, tackle; Paul Laviette, St. Joseph's of Escanaba, half; Jerry Londo, Gladstone, end; Jim Roemer, Manistique, guard; Doug Morcau, Manistique, end; Dick Barker, Escanaba, guard; John Baker, Gladstone, end-tackle; Jim Erickson, Escanaba, tackle; Don Carlson, Escanaba, back; Herb Nicholson, half; Gary Abrahamson, end, and Howard Perron, fullback, all of Escanaba. ... Menominee leads with 12. ... Escanaba is second with eight candidates.

Munising leads in the number of applicants for the North squad with six. They are Fred Krajewski, Jim Bovan, Bob Hillier, Gary Burley, Bob Nelson and Bob Mellon. ... Sports writers will do the picking this week.

Principal business at Escanaba's new golf driving range, Stop-and-Sock, north of the city, is coming from tourists and residents of this area who never played golf before. ... The game appeals to average person but often he's never had the opportunity to play on a regular course. ... The driving range is his answer.

Hugh J. Robinson, co-proprietor of the driving range with Morton McGeary, says it's surprising the number of tourists from Milwaukee, Detroit and other metropolitan areas who like to stop-and-sock a few just to keep in trim while they're seeing the sights of the Upper Peninsula. ... In fact, Hugh is going to stock up on Delta county tourist literature. ... "No, kiddin', we're beginning to function out there as sort of an unofficial or auxiliary Chamber of Commerce," Hugh commented.

We wish the fellows luck in their novel venture. ... Their reasonable prices, friendly management and pleasant surroundings will go a long way toward making it a success. ... Practice a la driving range is a tonic for your golf game.

Manager Leo Knauf of the defending champion Barks says he'll start Ray Menard against Norway at Bark River at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Menard came through with a nice relief job in the Barks' win last Sunday.

He also is counting on Eddy Mehnke's big bat. Eddy has six for eight the last two outings, including a brace of homers. The Barks, however, will be without the services of Clarence Kleinman, who sprained an ankle last week. He plays first base.

A bangup softball league tilt on tap at Memorial field at 8:45 Sunday night when the Escanaba Paper Mill will put its new star hurler, Steve Vugrin, on the line against the fast Liberty Loans.

For the Loans, who boast a commendable record in league and exhibition play, it will mark their first try to hit Vugrin's fast ball. A preliminary game is being arranged for 7:15. Paul Vardigan, Escanaba softball impresario, also announces that the leading American league team, which in all probability will be the Liberty Loans, will play the highly rated Milwaukee Athletics in a feature attraction here July 9.

The Athletics are a member of the National Fastball league and play an exceedingly fast brand of softball.

"I will go out on the limb to say that these Milwaukee Athletics will prove to be the best softball team ever to appear in Escanaba," Vardigan said. "They have trimmed the Joe Louis Punchers, the Midland Dons and other top-ranking teams in the fastball circuit." Likewise, a preliminary at 7:15 is being arranged for this encounter.

LITTLE GEM — Despectacled four-foot seven-inch Gem Hoaching goes up for a leaping backhand stab eliminating Gertrude (Gorgeous Gussie) Moran of Santa Monica, Calif., and her lace-trimmed panties from the Wimbledon women's singles, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Little Miss Hoaching, Chinese ballet dancer from Hong Kong, is the British indoor champion.

Gladstone Nine Host To Munising Algers In Rainbow Sunday

RAINBOW GAMES SUNDAY
Trenary at Chatham
Diorite at Ne-gaunee
Manistique at Gwinn
Munising at Gladstone

Gladstone, July 1—Gladstone's Redskins, repulsed repeatedly in close tilts thus far, will try for a win against Munising in a Rainbow league battle here Sunday afternoon. The Reds won, 7-1, when first they met.

Manistique's Cardinals, who closed out Munising 13-12 last Sunday, the closest Munising has come to winning thus far this season, will journey to Gwinn, a 5-4 victor over Gladstone last Sunday.

In other league encounters Sunday, Trenary journeys to Chatham and Diorite plays at Ne-gaunee.

Incidentally, as the result of an official league ruling for a replay of Trenary's 9-4 victory over Ne-gaunee May 22, the Rovers have slipped into first place ahead of Diorite with a 4-1 mark. Diorite has 5-2 and Trenary 4-2. The game was tossed out.

Electric Machine Weighs Arguments

By SCIENCE SERVICE
Chicago—Science now has a machine that flashes a stop light at an illogical argument.

It can't be used in Congress or in a street corner argument. Dr. Benjamin Burack of Roosevelt College here explains in his report to the journal, Science, that the machine has to be set up for particular argument before it will operate.

To operate the machine it is necessary to select blocks to represent the major premise, minor premise and conclusion, and put these blocks into three spaces provided on the panel of the machine. A light then automatically flashes on for each fallacy in the argument and a printed card beside the light describes the fallacy in logical terms.

The whole machine is mounted in the top of a suitcase and the blocks used are in plywood compartments in the bottom part of the case. The entire outfit weighs only 25 pounds.

Limitation of the machine, according to its inventor, is that the argument must first be put into logical form before the appropriate blocks can be fed into the machine.

Earlier machines, Dr. Burack says, have been developed to indicate the conclusions which can be drawn from given premises, but none of them was capable of testing the logic of conclusions al-

Ted Schroeder Beats Drobny In Five Sets For Wimbledon Title

London, July 1 (P) — Ted Schroeder, top-seeded favorite from La Crescenta, Calif., won the Wimbledon tennis championship today, defeating Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia in the men's singles finals, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Tenacious Ted had another lengthy tussle yesterday before he and Miami's Gardner Mulloy pulled victory out of the fire in their men's semifinal doubles match with Australians Billy Sidwell and Geoff Brown, 6-4, 3-6, 6-8, 6-3, 9-7.

The other men's doubles semifinal is to be played today, with three Americans engaged. The Los Angeles pair, Frankie Parker and Patty Gonzales, take on Budge Patty, also of Los Angeles, and South African Eric Sturges. An all-American final is in prospect for tomorrow.

As expected, those two old rivals—defending Champion Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont—blazed their way into the women's singles final with easy conquests yesterday.

Miss Brough defeated Mrs. Patt Todd, La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-0, while Mrs. duPont ousted Mrs. Helen Rihbany, Boston, 6-2, 6-2.

Perkins, Marquette Play 8-8 Deadlock

Marquette, July 1—The Marquette Flyers and Perkins played an 8-8 tie here Wednesday evening when the umpires called the game after seven innings on account of darkness. The high light of the game was Pollard of Marquette striking out nine men, walking four and gave up only six hits.

For Perkins, B. Richards lead with three for four, stole six bases and scored three runs. A large crowd witnessed the game. The same teams will play at Perkins at 6 p. m. July 7th.

Wes Bailey Makes Auspicious Debut In Minneapolis A.A.

(By The Associated Press)

Wes Bailey, newly arrived from Jersey City of the International league, made an auspicious American Association debut last night.

He held Toledo to four hits as Minneapolis took its third straight from the mud hens, 3 to 1. Don Lund's homer spoiled a shutout.

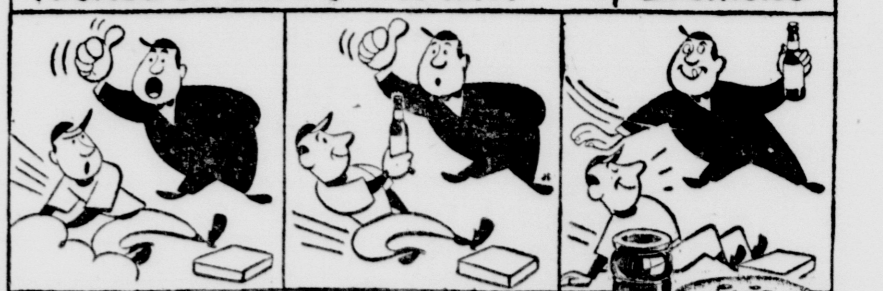

League-leading Indianapolis, was routed by St. Paul, 13 to 9; Louisville won a 4 to 3 triumph over Milwaukee, and Columbus pounded out 20 hits off two Kansas City pitchers in scoring a 16 to 1 triumph.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching—Bill Voiselle, Braves—Blanked old New York Giant Mates with four hits, 3-0, pitching himself out of trouble after walking six men.

Batting—Hank Edwards, Chicago Cubs, hit two home runs and a single, scored five runs personally and drove in four runs in the Cubs' 12-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bid To End Strike In Hawaii Rejected

Stevedores Won't Accept
Raise Of 14 Cents

By LEIF ERICKSON

Honolulu, July 1 (P)—Honolulu stevedores overwhelmingly turned down a plan for ending Hawaii's crippling waterfront strike yesterday. Their comrades elsewhere in the islands are expected to follow suit today.

The peace plan, advanced hopefully by a fact-finding board and accepted reluctantly by employers, was batted down 826 to 59.

The board proposed a raise of 14 cents an hour. The workers in striking 62 days ago demanded 32 cents on top of their current hourly wage of $1.40.

Wearily, acting Gov. Oren E. Long said he would ask the two sides to resume collective bargaining. "Surely, there must be some way this strike can be ended," he added.

The CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, however, indicated it was preparing for a long struggle.

McMath Kidnaper Freed From Prison

Boston, July 1 (P)—Kenneth Buck, 44, has been released from state prison where he spent 16 years for the sensational kidnapping of 10-year-old Peggy McMath. The kidnapping ranked second only to the Lindbergh case in national interest.

The former Harwich man was sentenced to not less than 24 years nor more than 25 years for hard labor on June 24, 1933. He was paroled seven days ago.

Parole came automatically under a law which permits a prisoner to seek freedom after serving two-thirds of his minimum term.

Peggy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McMath, wealthy Detroit, Mich., couple, was kidnapped May 2, 1933.

The child was forced into an automobile as she was on her way from school in Harwichport on Cape Cod, where her family had a summer place.

She was bound, gagged and blindfolded before being driven to a hiding place. The child turned up six days later aboard a yacht off Cape Cod. Her father and several other men including Cyril Buck, brother of Kenneth, were on the craft. The child was uninjured.

At Kenneth's trial it was testified that $60,000 ransom was paid. He was convicted of kidnapping and extortion. Cyril was acquitted of a charge of attempting to extort money. The trial lasted 11 days.

The parole confines Kenneth to the state except when the parole board permits him to leave.

Peggy, now 26, was married a year ago. She now lives in Lenoxville, Que., wife of Kenneth G. Herring.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. McMath, live in Birmingham, Mich., suburb of Detroit.

McMath declined to comment on Buck's release. He said as far as the family was concerned "the matter is closed."

Toll Rate Boost Of $4,800,000 Won By Michigan Bell

Lansing, July 1 (P)—The Michigan Bell Telephone company today was authorized to boost toll rates within Michigan $4,800,000 annually.

The Michigan Public Service commission granted the increase in an interim order which Governor Williams sought to forestall at a conference with commissioners two weeks ago.

The increase was granted on the eve of the expiration of the term of Republican Commissioner Henry L. Woolfenden.

The company has asked for a total of $9,800,000 in interim rate increases. Of this amount $5,000,000 would have been increases in local rates, and $4,800,000 in toll rates. The commission granted only the toll increase. The company proved at hearings in May that it was losing $2,000,000 annually on toll business.

Ballplayer Waitkus Has Operation But Bullet Is Not Found

Chicago, July 1 (P)—Eddie Waitkus, first baseman for the Philadelphia Phillies who was shot by his most fanatical admirer, had his lung re-expanded today, but surgeons did not find the bullet near his spine.

Surgeons at Billings Memorial hospital, where the 29-year old star was taken this morning, operated to re-expand the lung which had been partially collapsed by blood released by the wound. Waitkus was on the table more than two hours.

The surgeons also looked for the bullet which is lodged near Waitkus' spine, but did not reach it. They said another operation to remove it would not be performed.

Waitkus' condition was reported as satisfactory. No one would say whether he would be able to play ball again this season.

Manistique Man Is Fined, Jailed Today For Killing Pet Doe

Gladstone, Mich.—Gerald Burns, 38, of Manistique, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of killing a pet doe, before Justice O. C. Estenson here this morning. He was assessed a fine of $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Burns denied killing the doe when apprehended this morning in the vicinity of Chicago and Round Lakes, north of Nahma Junction, by Conservation Officer Hugh J. Fisher of Garden. Fisher was summoned by Clyde Atkinson, caretaker at a resort club on Round Lake, after Atkinson heard the shot and took the license number of a car in the vicinity.

Burns was found wading in a swamp, near the carcass of the doe. He said he was looking for a gun hid there, Fisher reported. Conservation officers are continuing investigation.

The doe gave birth to twin fawns a week ago.

Three others, one of Manistique, were implicated by Burns during his arraignment this morning.

Recognition Held Up For Reds In China

Senate Committee Will Be Consulted First

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, July 1 (P)—Secretary of State Acheson has assured Senate Foreign Policy leaders they will be consulted before any decision is made on recognizing a Chinese Communist government.

State department officials said today word had been given Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee that Acheson will consult fully with the committee on the recognition question when it arises.

There has been recent criticism from some senators of administration policy toward China. Twenty-one senators sent President Truman a protest last week against establishing diplomatic relations with the expected Communist regime.

The American government is understood to have urged two points in the talks with other countries on future developments in China:

1. That when the recognition issue does arise the western nations should act with a solid front and not be in haste individually to recognize the Communists.

2. That whatever trade is carried on with Communist China should exclude delivery of materials having military value.

Government Bureaus Signed Up For Cash

Washington, July 1—Eleventh-hour congressional action assured a number of government agencies today of operating funds at least through this month.

A House-adopted resolution providing the money won Senate approval yesterday and was promptly signed by President Truman.

It was necessary because congress has not yet completed action on regular money bills totaling about 75 per cent of the Truman budget for the 1950 fiscal year which began at midnight.

Agencies depending on these funds now will be able to continue spending for one month at the lowest rate mentioned by the House, Senate or the budget.

Meanwhile the veterans administration said half a million World War II veterans in schools and colleges will have to wait a few days for their subsistence checks because of a temporary shortage in agency funds.

Senators Have Feud Over Taxes

ka, the Republican floor leader, had another slant.

"The appropriations congress is passing are based entirely on President Truman's own budget estimates," the Nebraskan told a reporter. "Every time we try to cut them, his wing of the Democratic party fights the move."

"What we are asking him to do is to cut his own budget to balance income and outgo."

All Tangled Up
Meanwhile, Democrats and Republicans got all tangled up in a move—unlikely to succeed—to cut excise taxes.

The Senate finance committee voted approval of a bill to cut the rates on theater tickets, light bulbs, jewelry, furs, luggage, phone calls, telegrams, travel tickets, cameras and films.

This committee action involved some surprises.

The proposal, offered by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), was opposed by Lucas and George among others.

But it was backed by Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman.

McGrath explained later that he thinks efforts to keep the budget balanced ought not to depend even in part on wartime excise taxes. He said general taxes ought to be increased to do that job.

Johnson said the revenue loss from this proposal would be only $550,000,000 yearly. George said it would run to $725,000,000.

But McGrath said he thinks the loss would be much smaller because he said some industries now are "flat on their backs" and aren't producing goods on which taxes can be collected. He mentioned the jewelry industry as one of these.

In the House, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, minority floor leader, called for an excise cut.

But Rep. McCormack of Mass., the majority leader, said the Republicans already had done enough damage by passing last year's general tax reduction bill.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee said he would like to see some excise levies removed, but added that he doesn't see "how we can lose that amount of revenue at a time when revenues are declining and government expenses increasing."

New Buying Agency On Job In Capital

Mass Purchasing Begins
For Federal Bureaus

Washington, July 1 (P)—The government put a new agency to work today at mass purchasing for most federal bureaus, in a move to save money.

It was suggested as an economy step in the government reorganization plan of the bi-partisan commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover.

Congress finished legislation setting up the new General Services Administration yesterday and President Truman quickly signed the bill into law.

At its head Mr. Truman placed a former Army colonel and Oklahoma lawyer, Jess Larson.

Larson has been serving as Federal Works Administrator. But before that he was Uncle Sam's biggest merchandise salesman, disposing of billions of dollars worth of surplus government property as War Assets Administrator.

His nomination for the job of General Services Administrator was due to go to the Senate today. His duties would be to handle property management and buying for a group of major agencies. Some government departments, like the military, will continue to do their own buying and house-keeping chores.

Governor Appoints R. E. Allingham to State Fair Board

Lansing, July 1 (P)—Making three major appointments, Governor Williams put John H. McCarthy of Mt. Clemens on the State Public Service commission, Noel P. Fox of Muskegon on the State Labor Mediation Board, and Paul L. Adams of Sault Ste. Marie on the State Social Welfare commission.

McCarthy, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for state highway commissioner at the April election, was designated as Public Service commission chairman. He succeeds Henry L. Woolfenden of Detroit as a commissioner and replaces Stuart B.

4 Escape Unhurt In Auto Accident On US-2 Near Hyde

Drivers and occupants escaped injury at 7:30 last night when the auto owned and driven by Rodney Helfer, Bardonia, Ky., overturned after swerving to the left to avoid hitting a car being turned left by Clarence Gill, of Ford River township. The accident happened about four miles west of Hyde on US-2. Both drivers were going west.

According to state police who investigated, Helfer sounded his horn as a signal that he intended to pass and Gill's auto swung left and then right and left again as Helfer was about to pass. Helfer swerved his sedan to the left to avoid hitting Gill's car and went into the ditch and overturned.

Ivan Batten, of Detroit, a passenger in the Helfer auto, was uninjured as were both drivers and an unidentified passenger in the Gill car. Helfer's car was badly damaged.

Gill was given a summons for making a left hand turn without signaling.

Helfer and Batten were reported to be enroute to Alaska on a business trip. They returned to their hotel in Escanaba and planned to fly to Alaska.

The United States has more than three million miles of rural roads.

White of Niles as chairman, although White remains on the commission.

Fox, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for secretary of state last fall, was made mediation board chairman succeeding Dr. Rex Cranston of Detroit for a three year term.

Adams, an attorney, and former mayor of Sault Ste. Marie, succeeds Walter F. Gries of Ishpeming for a five year term.

Williams also named Richard E. Allingham of Escanaba to the Upper Peninsula state fair board. He is the local chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks. He succeeds Harry D. Brackett, Escanaba, for a five year term.
